Hi, Ken,

I will certainly take a look at all of these cases. I'm personally familiar with a couple, but many I have not dealt with. I'll get back to you ASAP on them.

Thanks, and have a good weekend.

Helen

Subject: Second Look Petitions

Helen --

I may have previously mentioned some of these petitions, but below is a list of petitions that may merit a second-look from DOJ, esp. since some of these were apparently decided during a transition period at ODAG. I will leave to your discretion whether you think any of these cases are close enough to merit further review by your office or ODAG, but I thought these were not "obvious" denials:

1. [REDACTED]
2. [REDACTED]
3. [REDACTED]
4. [REDACTED]
5. [REDACTED]
6. [REDACTED]
7. [REDACTED]
8. [REDACTED]
9. [REDACTED] -- I previously asked Roger to take a second look. A supplemental background was done, and he reported back late last year that it was a close case but that he still thought a denial was appropriate. However, he left open the possibility of ODAG taking a look.
10. [REDACTED] -- I previously talked to Roger about this case as well; he said it was a close case but was troubled by the frequency of his driving violations.

And I believe that there are two other cases that are still under active reconsideration per our office's request: [REDACTED] and Clarence Aaron.

Thanks. Please feel free to give me a call if you want to discuss further.
